Turkey Offers 4,500 Troops To Fight Reds

Answers Appeal of Trygve Lie
By Volunteering Aid in Korea

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., July 25 (INS).—A United Nations spokesman announced late tonight that Turkey has offered to supply 4,500 ground troops to fight the Communists in Korea.

A United Nations spokesman said that Turkish Foreign Minister Fudat Koprulu told U.N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie in a cablegram that the troops are at the "disposal" of the U.N. commander, General Douglas MacArthur.

The U.N. announcement confirmed unofficial dispatches from Ankara and London. It was the largest offer of troops yet made by any member nation of the United Nations and especially significant because of Turkey's close proximity to Soviet Russia.

The largest previous offer of troops had come from Thailand which volunteered 4,000 troops.

Selim Sarker, the Turkish delegate to the United Nations, is said to be ready to confer as soon as possible with United Nations officials to work out details for transport of Turkish troops to the Far East.

EXCELLENT FORCE
The Turkish army, which is largely United States-equipped and which has been trained and guided to a considerable extent by the United States, is thought to be one of the best of the smaller powers.

Foreign Minister Koprulu cabled his answer to Secretary Lie in response to a call made July 15 for armed forces to back up the United Nations decision to resist North Korean aggression.

He said the Government of the Republic of Turkey believed it to be its duty to comply with the obligations arising from the charter of the United Nations as well as the decisions of the Security Council.

There was no immediate elaboration of how soon such troops would be able to reach the Far East.

Site Near Oyster River Will Be Provincial Park

The British Columbia Government recently purchased about 142 acres of choice waterfront property south of Oyster River to be used as a park, it was learned here yesterday.

This is the only Provincial public park in British Columbia with sea-frontage. It has about 1,100 feet of fine sandy beach, covers 142 acres and is heavily wooded.

The property was sold to the Government for a nominal sum by Frank Potage, Cordova Bay, who purchased it in 1948 from The Pearce of Comox. Sale price, according to Government officials, was $5,000.

R. Fraser Biscoe, a city real estate agent, handled the original deal.

The new park is part of a 700-acre section owned by Mr. Potage. According to Mr. Biscoe the remainder will be subdivided.

Located about 160 miles north of Victoria and 85 miles by water from Vancouver, the new park is expected to provide another fine tourist attraction for Vancouver Island.

The park will be a valuable asset to local residents as well as tourists. Midway between Campbell River and Courtenay and easily accessible from both, it will provide one of the best picnic grounds on the east coast of the Island.

Will Consider Fingerprinting

Fingerprinting of all Victoria residents for identification of casualties in case of a major disaster may be worked into civilian defence plans.

Police Chief John Blackstock said last night the plan was a "good idea" and added it will be discussed at Friday's meeting of the Police Defence Committee.

The mass fingerprinting plan is being considered by Vancouver and Chicago.

Short Supply Believed Temporary

Warehouse Stocks of Tires in City Almost Gone in Heavy Buying Wave

Panic buying to beat price increases and possible rationing by last night had seriously depleted stocks of automobile tires in the city.

Major wholesalers told the Colonist their warehouse stocks were "almost cleaned out" in the heaviest wave of panic buying since early in the World War.

Some of the buying, they said, was attributable to the Korean war, which some thought might bring eventual tire rationing.

EFFECT OF BOOST

But a large part of the buying wave was prompted by price increases. Major tire manufacturers yesterday raised their prices from five to ten per cent, and many car owners feared further rises. Similar increases were reported from Vancouver.

A survey of tire supply houses showed nearly all were feeling the effects of the panic buying. Some reported "a little more activity," other said buying was "extremely heavy." Wholesalers appeared to be busier than retailers.

By the day's end, stocks were low in all sizes. In short supply was the popular 6.00x16 size.

Price increases had either been put into effect or were contemplated by all major companies, tire men said. The raises were five per cent on passenger tires, 7½ per cent on truck tires, and from five to ten per cent on imported tires and tubes.

The increases had "nothing to do

South Korea One Month After Invasion

Here is the geography after a month of fighting in South Korea. It was a month ago yesterday that the North Korean invasion got under way. After 30 days of fighting, the Communist forces control roughly two-thirds of the area south of the 38th Parallel. Map shows the shrinking southeast area where U.S. troops are fighting in relation to the entire Korean peninsula. Last night a lightning Red drive thrust eastward along the south coast past Suncheon to within 70 miles of Pusan.

Canadian Planes On Way to Aid U.N.

MONTREAL, July 25 (CP).—Canada's second contribution to the Korean war—six big R.C.A.F. North Stars—is on the way tonight to aid the United Nations cause.

The aircraft, first consignment of ten North Stars that will eventually take part in airlift operations, took off at 7:02 p.m. E.D.T. tonight on the first lap of their flight to Tacoma, Wash.

The planes are from No. 425 Transport Squadron, based at Dorval, Montreal's airport.

Previously, Canada sent three destroyers to serve under U.N. colors.

The planes flew over Ottawa shortly after 8 p.m. and an hour later were over Toronto. They touched down tonight at Stephenson airport, Winnipeg, at 12:45 a.m. C.D.T., and were to take off about 2 a.m. C.D.T. after refueling and the men's lunch.

Bearing freshly-painted U.N. crests on their tails, the planes left Dorval under slightly overcast skies.

Some 200 relatives and friends of the 95 men taking part in the operations were on hand to witness the departure.

First plane to become airborne was No. 14, carrying the unit's commanding officer, Wing Cmdr. C. H. Munsel. His co-pilot was Flt. Lt. R. E. Churchill of Edmonton.

In a pre-takeoff ceremony Air Vice-Marshal A. L. James, acting chief of staff, read farewell messages from Defence Minister Clegg and Air Marshal W. A. Curtis.

Carrying two full air crews and a ground crew each, the transports will fly unarmed across the Pacific Ocean ferrying men and supplies to Korea.

"The rubber market has shot up from 17 cents in December, 1949, to 30½ cents today," Mr. Baylis said. "It's been obvious for a month that an increase was bound to come."

The market price was increased by a rubber shortage which in turn was caused by fighting in Malaya, he said. Malaysian plantations "almost have to maintain their own armies" to protect workers.

In addition, Mr. Baylis said, a large quantity of rubber has been stockpiled in Indo-China, and is being held off the market because of devaluation.

Mr. Baylis predicted there would soon be a general increase in the price of all rubber goods.

FACTORY STOCKS NOEMAL
Mr. Baylis and other dealers said their warehouse stocks were low, but that factory stocks are normal, and that the shortage of tires should be only temporary.

Tyson Dickinson, of Dickinson and Dunn, said there was no reason for war-panic buying. War-built synthetic plants could supply all the "cold" rubber Canada would need in the event of an all-out war, he said.

Besides, he added, "if war does come, there won't be enough gasoline to run a cigarette lighter, let alone a car."

Trouble Hinted Aboard Ship On Trip North

QUEBEC, July 25 (Wednesday).—L'Evenement-Journal says today in a newspaper story that "several facts seem to confirm" rumors of "mutinous" incidents aboard the Department of Transport icebreaker C. D. Howe prior to its departure early Tuesday for its first voyage into Northern Canadian waters.

The newspaper says it has learned damage to some of the vessel's mechanical devices was discovered.

L'Evenement adds it had learned a few days ago that some crew members hired for the voyage had accepted to go as far as the Strait of Belle-Ile but that when they learned the ship was leaving for a four-month voyage into the North they "showed reluctance."

The newspaper adds that the vessel was originally scheduled to leave here Saturday or Sunday at the latest.

The C. D. Howe has a complement of some 70 crew members and space for 22 passengers. It has a range of more than 12,000 miles.

City workers have been busy during the past week making repairs to the section of Yates Street between Douglas and Blanshard Streets.

This is the section which was resurfaced only last Autumn.

City Engineer Cyril Jones said the base of the road had failed, necessitating repairs both to it and to the street surface. He said the concrete road base had been used for some 40 years. It was on this base that the old wooden blocks were laid.

"It gradually got to the stage where we had to make a major repair on it," explained Mr. Jones.

Thousands of citizens from every walk of life lined up outside the Parliament Buildings in Ottawa yesterday to view the body of former Prime Minister Mackenzie King, who died Saturday.

A portion of the crowd that viewed the body is shown waiting in line under umbrellas. Rain fell during the mid-afternoon. Among the crowd were hundreds of visitors from other parts of Canada and the United States who came to pay their last respects.

Reds Sweep Closer To Port of Pusan

Night Attack by Communists Takes Americans by Surprise

TOKIO, July 26 (Wednesday) (CP).—Communist troops have loosed a lightning drive along Korea's south coast which has swept to within 70 miles of the main supply port of Pusan, late reports said today.

The North Koreans cut loose with this punch while exerting heavy pressure all along the front, overwhelming strategic Yongsong and driving the American defenders two miles to the east.

The late reports to Tokyo said one spearhead of the Red's Fourth Division had reached the edge of Hadong, near the south coast and only 70 miles west of Pusan on the southeast coast.

SUNCHON BY-PASSED
The good rail and highway city of Suncheon on the south coast, with its peninsular port of Yosu, had been by-passed in this eastward lunge.

At Hadong the Reds were 15 miles northeast of Suncheon and 75 miles south of American positions near Yongsong. Another spearhead of the Communist Fourth Division was seven miles southwest of Suncheon.

Another column in this same wide sweep has pushed along an east-west road to Hamyang, which is due north of Hadong and 44 miles south of Yongsong, the late reports said.

Thus the Reds had three prongs headed toward Pusan across the base of the shrinking Allied positions in South Korea. At least 2,000 more Red troops were massing to the rear of these columns.

The air forces were called out for day and night strikes in an attempt to stem the rolling Red tide.

HEAVY DAMAGE
Heavy damage was reported today by Allied warplanes which took advantage of clear skies and blasted at targets behind the front. Thirty-one bridges were bombed and six tanks were destroyed or damaged, the Far East Air Force reported.

These strikes followed the first night attack mission by U.S. jet fighters. Round-the-clock bombings were on the schedule to aid the outnumbered and hard-pressed ground forces.

Eight enemy divisions, possibly 50,000 to 75,000 men, kept up relentless pressure all along the shrinking front. They were pressing back the outnumbered U.S. and South Korean forces ever closer to Pusan, the major southern port.

The North Koreans sprang their first all-night attack of the war just as the First U.S. Cavalry Division was completing its withdrawal Tuesday from Yongsong, 100 air miles northwest of Pusan.

The surprise blow, led by tanks, caught the division off balance and forced it back farther east of Yongsong than originally planned.

Other mysterious vessels were reported to have been spotted along Hokkaido's eastern shoreline between Nemuro and Nemuro.

The Maritime Board said that shelling was audible to residents of Hokkaido even times while glaring ship searchlights were observed off Soya village four times. Lights also were sighted off Reiri and Reibun Islands on Hokkaido's northwestern tip.

NEW YORK, July 25 (INS).—A Mutual network correspondent reported from Tokyo today that the North Korean Communist radio has have been the craft which popped up near a foreign trawler on the Grand Banks off Newfoundland July 16.

The Navy feels it is quite possible that Russia has sent a submarine or two into Canadian coastal waters. It could be a rewarding manoeuvre from several Russian angles.

An eighth sighting, the Navy said today, was reported during the day, the fifth in the Fundy area. An officer said all sorts of other rumors are flying and being phoned in to official quarters. The eighth definite report was that of a man who said he saw two periscopes two miles out to sea from Cape Spencer, near Saint John at 8 p.m. Monday.

STILL SCEPTICAL
The Navy is sceptical, an officer said today, just as it is sceptical about the majority of the first seven reports. But an Intelligence officer who went down to Saint John to probe an earlier report delayed his departure for Ottawa to check this latest one. He was expected to fly back to Ottawa tonight.

He is the officer who was checking one of the reports in which the Navy places some credence, that of a Chance Harbor, N.B., fisherman who says his boat was partly swamped by a submarine in the fog three weeks ago.

The second big check is being made with the British submarine Astute which might or might not

Mustang Pilots Praised

AMERICAN EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, July 26 (Wednesday) (Reuters).—Americans in the front line in the 26th Division sector north of Yongsong are singing the praises of Australian Mustang pilots.

It was reported from the forward area that six Communist tanks broke through the American lines yesterday and threatened to cause havoc. An air control spotter called for help and Australian Mustangs in the area set out after the marauding armor.

They plastered the tanks with rockets, claiming two destroyed and three damaged.

Vessels Off Jap Island Worrying Safety Board

OTARU, Japan, July 26 (Wednesday) (INS).—The Japanese Maritime Safety Board reported today that uneasiness is mounting along the northern and eastern coasts of Hokkaido, Japan's northernmost home island close to Russian-occupied Sakhalin and Kurile Islands.

The maritime board said that unidentified vessels continue to be sighted with increasing frequency in the sea of Okhotsk whose waters wash Northern Hokkaido, the eastern shores of Sakhalin and the Kuril chain of islands stretching northward in the direction of the Aleutians.

31 OCCURRENCES
The board reported 31 "unusual occurrences" of the northern and eastern coasts of Hokkaido from the time Korean hostilities broke out June 25 through July 20.

In that time six unidentified vessels including warships were reported to have been sighted in the narrow Soya Strait separating Hokkaido from the southern tip of Soviet-held Sakhalin.

Other mysterious vessels were reported to have been spotted along Hokkaido's eastern shoreline between Nemuro and Nemuro.

The Maritime Board said that shelling was audible to residents of Hokkaido even times while glaring ship searchlights were observed off Soya village four times. Lights also were sighted off Reiri and Reibun Islands on Hokkaido's northwestern tip.

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP).—Emergency bills lifting all restrictions on the size of the armed forces and adding one year to all current military enlistments, rocketed through the House of Representatives today.

Unanimous voice votes cleared both bills, which had been requested only last week by President Truman.

FIFTH AIR FORCE HEADQUARTERS, July 25 (Wednesday) (INS).—The United States Air Force said today that jet fighter planes flew night intruder missions against the Communist enemy Tuesday for the first time.

The action forced enemy vehicles to turn off lights and was part of general harassing missions begun after it was learned that daytime Allied aerial strikes were causing the enemy to resort to night troop movements.

British Yards Lead World In Ship Work

LONDON, July 25 (Wednesday) (Reuters).—More than 40 per cent of the merchant shipping under construction in the world is in British shipyards, Lloyd's Register of Shipping announced today.

Figures as of June 30 showed 326 ships with a gross tonnage of 1,937,101 under construction in British yards. Other shipbuilding countries in the world (except Russia, Poland, Germany and China, for which no returns were available) shared between them 717 ships with a gross tonnage of 2,612,730.

The British total was some 40,000 tons more than at the end of the previous quarter of 1950. But it was 306,000 tons less than at the end of June 1948, when it reached the highest figure since December, 1921.

Of the British construction, nearly 740,000 tons was being built for registration abroad or for sale.

Leading shipbuilding countries after Britain were France with 491,000 tons (10 per cent), Japan, 372,000 tons (eight per cent), the United States, 326,000 tons (seven per cent), Holland 307,000 tons, Sweden 302,000 tons, Italy 241,000 tons, Denmark 121,000 tons, Norway 117,000 tons, Spain 102,000 tons.

Sleuthing Convention "Sees Detection Dust"

OTTAWA, July 25 (CP).—It's possible to be fingerprinted without getting your fingers dirty; to get a smudge on your nose which only shows up under ultra-violet light.

And did you know that chicken thieves can lift a couple of hundred hens in a night—without the farmer even hearing a cackle?

This "leaked out" today from one of the biggest sleuthing conventions to hit this capital.

Some 200 detectives, most of them from the United States, opened a four-day meeting of the 25-year-old International Association for Identification. They're getting the inside information on the latest developments in their field.

The "rookie" visitor who thinks fingerprinting means getting black paint on the hands would be amazed to find the black only shows up on the print. His fingers remain clean.

Another gadget among the convention exhibits is "detection dust." A dash of this on the coat-sleeve doesn't even show.

But put your sleeve in the ultra-violet or "black" light and the smudge is a world green.

Delegates heard about the Noronic disaster from Dr. T. C. Brown of Toronto General Hospital who told them that the successful identification of all but three of the 119 victims represented "an achievement unparalleled in medical history."

He said it also was the first time that comparison X-rays taken before and after death were used successfully on a large scale to identify disaster victims.

"Temporary" Job to End
NEW WESTMINSTER, July 25 (CP).—A police court magistrate who once fined himself for speeding will end his long and colorful career on the bench next week.

Magistrate H. L. Edmonds, K.C.—British Columbia's senior magistrate—will retire after 40 years' service, to be succeeded by Royal City barrister T. R. Selkirk.

Magistrate Edmonds, 80, took over the job of "temporary" police court magistrate here in 1910 and has held it ever since.

Rescue Effort Fails Again In Antarctic

MELBOURNE, Australia, July 25 (Reuters).—A second attempt by ship doctors to reach Dr. Serge Udovikoff, suffering from appendicitis on lonely Heard Island in the Antarctic, has failed.

Strong gales and high seas forced the British 10,500-ton freighter Perthshire to abandon her attempt to reach the sick man, only doctor with a small Australian Antarctic expedition.

The Perthshire's captain, A. J. Hogg, radioed that he would be "against" his judgment to further risk the ship and crew, and in the circumstances I must abandon the mission.

Efforts will be made to divert another ship, Dr. Udovikoff, meanwhile, was ready to operate on himself if aid did not arrive in time.

Labor Groups Work as One

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP).—For the first time in their history, the A.F.L. and C.I.O. formally agreed today to work together. In all previous unity talks, the A.F.L. insisted there could be no active co-operation until a real merger had taken place.

All that was changed today. They set up a permanent A.F.L.-C.I.O. "unity committee," which will meet again tomorrow and later from time to time.

"We will work together in the fields of legislation and political action," they said in a statement, "to insure the continued strengthening of our own American democratic institutions."

Together the two big groups have 141 unions and claim around 14,000,000 members.

C.C.F. Leader Stresses Support of U.N.

By FRED McNEIL
Colonial Staff Reporter

VANCOUVER, July 25.—National C.C.F. Leader M. J. Coldwell in a keynote speech tonight on the eve of the party's 11th annual convention devoted his whole-hearted support to United Nations action in Korea.

He spoke to an audience of 1,100 which jam-packed the main ballroom of the Hotel Vancouver at 50 cents each.

On the platform were Provincial Leader Harold Winch, Premier T. C. Douglas of Saskatchewan and party leading lights from across the Dominion.

The ballroom was decked with placards and party slogans. One said: "Make Canadians partners in government." Punning Newfoundlanders declared they are "Newfound fighters for social justice." Saskatchewan's poster announced, "Greetings from the only C.C.F. province to future C.C.F. provinces."

Convention proper, opening in the morning. Near the door was a table plastered with party literature for sale and posters inviting the faithful to the Summer camp on Gabriola Island.

COMMUNISTS BURY

The Communists were busy in the lobbies too. They passed out a newspaper entitled "Labor Challenge" with a boldly emblazoned "workers of the world unite" slogan. They passed out leaflets advertising a lecture by R. W. Bullock of the "Revolutionary Workers' Party" (Fourth International). The leaflet promised an expose of the United Nations and "the betrayal of Stalinism."

C.C.F.-ers placidly accepted the Communist material. Some dropped their like hot potatoes when they recognized their contents. Others furiously cast them aside when worried Chairman Grant MacNell said there were saboteurs in the lobbies. He stressed their literature had nothing to do with the C.C.F.

Jovial Premier Douglas spent five minutes telling drill stories and then launched into an account of what the C.C.F. is trying to do in Saskatchewan. The party's aim, he said, is social security with freedom in the lobbies party workers bustled about importantly making arrangements for big doings at the dom. He ended up by saying the voters had no one to blame but themselves "if we have economic depression and war again."

DISCUSSES COLD WAR

Mr. Coldwell devoted the major part of his speech to the United Nations, the Atlantic Pact, the cold war and its hot conclusion in Korea.

He may have had in mind the resolution passed last year by the British Columbia party convention condemning the Atlantic Pact. He may have been determined to go all out in setting a keynote to prevent an embarrassing recurrence of the same sort of thing over Korea.

He said: "Speaking for myself and because of experience on the committee which wrote the constitution of the International Refugee Organization, I had no illusions either about totalitarian Communism or the Soviet Union and the delegates it governed and controlled."

OBVIOUS AGGRESSION

The C.C.F. he said, must oppose totalitarianism in any form. He labeled "sudden and dramatic invasions of South Korea the clearest and most obvious case of aggression since Hitler was on the move in Europe."

Mr. Coldwell said he had dwelt at some length on the international situation because he wanted it unmistakably understood where the parliamentary group of the party stood and where, he hoped, the rank and file stood.

Four vital steps to security

(with something important in common)

1. A steady job is the foundation of security. And job-security can be increased by showing initiative — the quality which, surveys prove, makes workers most valuable. Life insurance dollars, invested in industries and public works, create many new jobs each year.

2. Owning your own home builds security two ways. It allows you to make a sound investment through regular savings, and it brings freedom from housing worries. Hundreds of thousands of Canadians now own their own homes, built with the help of life insurance dollars.

3. Cash resources, such as savings accounts and Canada Savings Bonds, promote security by providing funds for emergencies. And it is important to save regularly. Life insurance helps you save systematically — for family protection, retirement and other future needs.

4. Life insurance protects you and your family as you build security in all these ways. It helps to provide income for your retirement. And it guarantees your dependants an income in the event of your death. Thus by owning life insurance you take your most vital step to security!

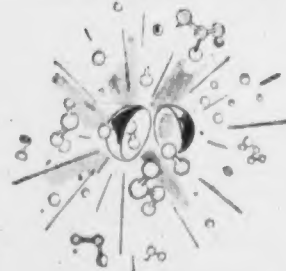

Here's to your future! In all these ways, life insurance helps you and yours to find greater security. Today 5 million Canadian life insurance policyholders are helping themselves and each other to face the future with increasing confidence!

Extra Tall Wheat Grown on Small Dupplin Road Lot

Eighty-three-year-old George Fisk, 628 Dupplin Road, is mighty proud of his small crop of Red Winter wheat which he claims is taller than most grown on Prairies. His crop measures between five and six feet in height. Mr. Fisk was farmer in Alberta for 43 years before coming to Victoria 18 years ago.

Strike Vote May Be Taken By Carpenters Before Friday

A strike vote by carpenters employed by 25 contractors of the Victoria Building Industries Exchange is expected to be taken before Friday, it was learned last night.

Members of Local 1598 of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners indicated in a test ballot on Monday night they would vote for a strike if a Government-supervised strike vote is called.

Machinery for a strike vote already has been set in motion by the Labor Relations Board. Yesterday contractors listed on the union application to the board were asked to submit their payroll sheets.

Some contractors appeared to think the strike vote would be called Thursday night at Labor Relations Board headquarters. Definite date, however, will be set today, according to officials of the board.

Meanwhile, Ernest Oliver, president of the union, announced last night that two more contractors had signed a new working agreement with the union yesterday. One also signed Monday.

Members of the Exchange will hold a meeting late today to decide their next move. They are faced with a general construction shutdown unless they bow to the carpenters' demands for $1.68 an hour.

GROUP COMING HERE

A party of approximately 100 businessmen from Eastern Canada is slated to visit Victoria following the annual meeting of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce at Banff, September 11 to 14. The group will come to this city via Vancouver, with tentative arrival date set for September 18.

UNION ACCEPTS

Terms of a unanimous conciliation board award setting minimum wages for employees of O'Neil Glass and Paint Company and Hobbs Glass Limited were accepted by glassworkers belonging to the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers, it was learned here yesterday.

The award provides $1.21 an hour for journeymen, $1.15 for workers spending half their time on journeymen's work; $1.09 for semi-skilled workers, and 90 cents for unskilled workers. The firms have not yet accepted the report.

MONUMENT OF ROSES

Perhaps the most beautiful rose garden in Victoria is today a flowering monument to the artistry of one of Canada's foremost rose growers, who died recently.

He was Fred Taylor, 1250 Dallas Road. His widow, Manala A. Taylor, always his gardening companion and helper, now has the garden at its best. The whole front of her beautiful home is a blaze of bloom.

Mr. Taylor was a member of the American Rose Society, the National Rose Society of England, the Victoria Rose Society and the Victoria Horticultural Society.

WANTS TO STAY OPEN

A. E. Webster, manager of the Jubilee Service Station, applied to City Council yesterday for a permit to operate on a 24-hour basis under the new Garage and Service Station By-Law.

The application will be put in the hands of the city engineer, who has been empowered to select ten garages in the city which will be permitted to remain open 24 hours a day.

The by-law requires all service stations and garages, with the ex-

Appearing with Mr. Warren's story are several pictures showing Victoria gardens.

EXTINGUISH FIRES

City and Saanich firemen yesterday combined to extinguish two grass fires.

They first quelled a rubbish fire at St. Charles Street and Rockland Avenue which had spread to surrounding grass. Later, both departments responded to a call at McCaskill and Griffith Streets where they put out a grass fire.

MAY LEND TEXTS

Grade XII students in the Greater Victoria area writing supplemental examinations this year may be able to obtain necessary textbooks on a loan basis, J. F. K. English, senior municipal inspector of schools, said yesterday.

Students requiring books should get in touch with their own school principal or vice-principal. Mr. English said, or falling that, with the school board office.

AWARD ACCEPTED

Terms of a unanimous conciliation award giving members of Local 1163, Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers a ten-cent-an-hour wage increase was accepted by the membership. It was learned here yesterday.

The conciliation board also recommended a union shop clause requiring all new employees to be members of the union within 30 days.

It further recommended that room and board allowance for out-of-town work be increased by $5 to $60 a month.

The Master Painters' Association also is expected to accept the conciliation board award.

Paul Mapes, principal of a Joliet, Ill. elementary and junior high school, visited Victoria this week with 18 boys on a month-long tour of the Pacific Northwest.

The students, whose average age is 12, camp out. Mr. Mapes does the cooking and driving. Their bus carries an icebox and almost the entire left side is taken up with food, utensils and sleeping bags.

Crown Witnesses Questioned

Lively Cross-Examination Highlights Hearing in Goldstream Robbery Case

Three men charged with armed robbery of the Goldstream Hotel told police that firearms and money located in a Finlayson Arm Road house were found by them in a bundle lying on the Island Highway, according to Crown evidence yesterday in the extended preliminary hearing.

Magistrate A. I. Thomas adjourned the hearing until next Wednesday at 2 p.m. Accused in the case are Stewart Robertson, Wilford Hutchison and Edwin Hingley, all construction workers.

Inspector George Clark, recalled by Crown Prosecutor George F. Gregory, told the court Robertson had said he was on the way to Hutchison's house with Hutchison and Hingley when the bundle was observed on the side of the road. Robertson had said he saw no money, the witness stated.

Last week Constable Bud Godfrey told of seeing firearms and ammunition lying on a blanket when he looked through the window of Hutchison's house on Finlayson Arm Road.

SIMILAR STORY

Hutchison had given a similar story but had said there was a bundle of $1,000 found in the bundle which was wrapped in a blanket, Inspector Clark testified.

Greatest part of yesterday's session was taken up with cross-examination of Crown witnesses by Arthur P. Dawe, Robertson's lawyer. James J. Proudfoot, counsel for Hingley and Hutchison, did not cross-examine to any great extent.

Ralph Calladine, hotel owner, when shown a revolver by Mr. Gregory, said it "looked like" the gun which was in his back on the night of the holdup.

ASKED ABOUT DOOR During Mr. Dawe's extensive cross-examination of Mr. Calladine, he asked the proprietor why the beer parlor door hadn't been locked.

Calladine replied that the door had to be banged hard before the lock would click.

"Did you pour the leader a drink of rye the first time you were upstairs with him?" asked defence counsel. The reply was in the negative.

"Have you ever gambled at the house on Finlayson Arm Road?" queried Mr. Dawe. The witness said he never had.

"Do you run a game at your beer parlor?"

"No. What are you trying to get at? I think this man is insulting," Mr. Calladine replied.

Magistrate Thomas and Mr. Gregory then objected to Mr. Dawe's cross-examination.

"I have the full right of cross-examination," countered Mr. Dawe. When Mr. Dawe again asked the question about gambling, the magistrate said the witness didn't have to answer, but Mr. Calladine did.

"Isn't it a fact you are in uneasy circumstances for money?" asked defence counsel. Again the witness replied in the negative.

"Did you tell the leader not to phone you for at least a week after the holdup?" asked Mr. Dawe. Mr. Calladine denied he had.

"Isn't it a fact you are in uneasy circumstances for money?" asked defence counsel. Again the witness replied in the negative.

"Did you tell the leader not to phone you for at least a week after the holdup?" asked Mr. Dawe. Mr. Calladine denied he had.

"Did you tell the leader not to phone you for at least a week after the holdup?" asked Mr. Dawe. Mr. Calladine denied he had.

"Where is the other $500 which is supposed to have been stolen?" asked defence counsel.

MAGISTRATE OBJECTS "That is what I'd like to know," replied the hotel owner. When Mr. Dawe asked the witness what kind of insurance he carried, Magistrate Thomas objected but defence counsel insisted he was permitted to ask such a question.

"Something regarding money is being covered up," put in Mr. Dawe. In reply to a question, the hotel owner denied ever having played dice and banker with the accused.

"Did you have any agreement to pay them any money?" asked defence counsel.

"I didn't even know them. How could I?" replied the proprietor.

At one point Mr. Gregory said he took a "poor view" of Mr. Dawe's suggestion that the Crown was withholding evidence pertaining to the identification of money. The Crown prosecutor offered to produce the evidence if it would help the defence but Mr. Dawe didn't take the offer.

Mr. Gregory submitted defence counsel didn't have courage to back up his own statements. Mr. Dawe then replied the prosecutor's remarks were consonant with "my learned friend's intelligence."

Mrs. Calladine broke down when Mr. Dawe started cross-examination and had to be helped from the court room. When she returned she objected to Mr. Dawe's lengthy cross-examination. Once she referred to Mr. Dawe's questions as "stupid."

Mr. Dawe made a remark about Mrs. Calladine being afraid of being questioned.

"I don't mind being questioned, but not by a nincompoop," replied Mrs. Calladine.

"Thanks, I always knew I'd achieve fame," said Mr. Dawe. "You achieved fame a long time ago, Mr. Dawe," stated the witness.

Magistrate Thomas called for order. "Did you ever see any of these men before?" asked Mr. Dawe.

"Don't be such a . . . fool," replied Mrs. Calladine.

QUESTIONS MATERIAL When the Crown prosecutor and the magistrate objected to Mr. Dawe's cross-examination, defence counsel said every question he asked will be material.

Arrest Follows Crash; Woman Seriously Hurt

A woman was injured seriously and a car totally wrecked in a crash on Shelbourne Street near Mount Douglas Park about 5:15 a.m. yesterday.

Charlotte Galey, 2640 Blanshard Street, is in Royal Jubilee Hospital suffering from severe scalp lacerations and shock.

Driver of the car, Hilburn G. Bradley, of Sidney, who received a minor leg injury, was arrested by Saanich Police and charged with dangerous driving. He will appear at a special sitting of Saanich police court this morning.

According to a report by investigating officers Constables David Shepherd and Edward Anderson, Bradley was proceeding north on Shelbourne Street when, near Mount Douglas Park, his car left the road and struck a tree. The accident occurred on the straightaway.

Assisting Saanich policemen at the scene was B.C. Police Constable Charles Estlin who lives near the scene of the accident.

Several hours after the crash hospital authorities reported the injured woman's condition was fairly good.

ITUSES FOUND City police yesterday destroyed a number of blasting caps and fuses found in the bushes on Tye Road.

You'll Prove an Expert Jam Maker

The First Time you try this Easy, 5-Point, Short-Boil Way!

The modern, short-boil way of making jam with CERTO is so quick, easy and sure it's hard to believe . . . until you try it!

It's the natural way, too, because CERTO is fruit pectin (the natural substance in fruit that causes it to "jell") in concentrated form.

These 5 points, typical of CERTO recipes, explain how CERTO simplifies jam making.

1. ONE MINUTE BOIL With CERTO you don't have to "boil down" your fruit to make it set. You boil hard ONE MINUTE only. That cuts down by two-thirds the time needed for making jam the old, long-boil way!

2. 2 lbs. FULLY RIPE FRUIT You use RIPE fruit at the peak of flavor and color (Long boil recipes call for under-ripe fruit.) The one-minute boil does not dull this lovely natural color or spoil the ripe fruit taste. So your jam keeps the taste and color of fresh fruit.

3. 3 lbs. of SUGAR A pound of jam made with CERTO contains no more sugar than a pound made the old long-boil way.

4. 4 ozs. of CERTO You add a half bottle (4 ozs.) of CERTO to ensure the correct ratio of pectin to fruit and sugar for a perfect set. That ends guesswork. CERTO helps all fruits to jell perfectly.

5. 5 lbs. of JAM There's no "boiling down" with CERTO, so you average a 50% greater yield from the same amount of fruit. You get about 5 lbs. of jam where long-boil recipes would only yield about 3 lbs!

CERTO BRAND FRUIT PECTIN A Product of General Foods

Follow the Recipes Exactly Under the label of every CERTO bottle is a book of tested CERTO recipes for every fruit because different fruits need different handling. RESULTS ARE SURE if you follow the simple directions EXACTLY. Get CERTO at your grocer's.

Reality Generally Comes With a Shock

MANY things are clearer in the world today than they were a few weeks ago. If the painful reality is a shock, that is at least better than the process of self-deception by means of which the free nations of the globe lulled themselves and their peoples to sleep in the last five years—calling it peace. It never has been that. One threat to freedom has been substituted for another, that is all. In place of Germany, it is Russia; for Hitler, Stalin; and time is still unfortunately on the side of the big battalions—battalions which the West disbanded all too readily and too soon. Were it not for the atomic bomb head start, no matter how much the churches may dislike it, Europe's freedom today could not be guaranteed for as much as one week.

Events of the past month have made some things plain. Russia kept up her standing armies, her armaments and her aloofness from the world's counsels because behind the Iron Curtain, peace was not her goal. Snorkel submarines wandering in the oceans of the world, Stalin tanks in Korea, and a perpetual campaign of espionage and sabotage around the globe were not, and are not, the adjuncts of peace in any form. Even if the United States stands today in South Korea much where Great Britain stood in Greece when the Nazis held the whip-hand, the same first principle has been affirmed—the defence of right.

While a reversal in Korea was inherent from the facts on the ground, nobody in his right mind believes that the scene, the means and the decision can, or will, rest there. There may be a dozen Koreas before the United Nations can put a stake into the ground that will hold; but the decision to do so has been taken, and that is the most important fact of all. While everyone will regret the new race to preparedness which this state of affairs is forcing on the freedom-loving nations of the world, regrettably there is no other course. Russia has tipped her hand once too often to have the signs misunderstood.

Civil Defence—At a Leisurely Pace

THERE is a leisurely air about civil defence preparedness in this area that might or might not be appropriate to the needs of reality. One does not envisage any sudden emergency that would catch this part of the coast unawares, but then one never does. Times being as they are it might be wise to show a greater sense of urgency than seems to be apparent.

It is true that provincial and municipal delegates have been attending a conference in Seattle, and that a committee of provincial officials has been named to look into the matter. In Vancouver it is proposed to duplicate the mock atom bomb attack staged in the American city recently, and which formed the chief topic of the conference. In August, too, a "disaster exercise" is planned by the British Columbia Red Cross. No one, however, seems to be coming to grips with the more lowly problem of organizing civil defence units, even in shadow form.

No matter what preparedness plans eventuate they will rest on the existence of groups plotted throughout the community, with definitely-assigned duties to perform should the need arise. It seems strange that civil defence should not at least begin where it left off, and that no move has taken place to resurrect the tightly-knit A.R.P. organizations that existed during the war years. Planning on a higher echelon may have taken a new aspect since then, but these groups or their equivalent will be necessary in any new defensive scheme.

Civil defence in this area is primarily the responsibility of the Province in that the Premier is the chief A.R.P. officer and the lead should come from that direction. It is scarcely enough, however, for other officials to sit back waiting for someone else to do things. It would be more comforting if there was some evidence that civil defence is not merely an abstract proposition, but something that warrants more positive action than seems to be forthcoming.

Union Interference wrecks a Plant

IN its current issue The Financial Post shows up the serious consequences that can result to employees and management in cases where union leaders resort to blind, unreasoning actions. The instance it quotes relates to a strike in a Windsor industrial chemical plant, and the paper reviews step by step what it describes as the most shocking example on record of irresponsible, short-sighted and stupid leadership.

The employees involved in the dispute were not the production staff, but a group of 50 office workers who struck for the principle of seniority rather than merit as the basis for pay increases. Other unions agreed to respect the office workers' picket lines, thus bringing about a total cessation of operations. In this case the chemical nature of the production process has to be continuous, and is such that any shutdown of more than six hours results in a deterioration of cells to the point where they can no longer be trusted to function safely. As a consequence of the break in the continuous production process it will cost $250,000 to $400,000 to rebuild the plant, and about two years will elapse before production can be restored to normal. The unions were warned of what would happen, but went ahead anyway.

Here is an outstanding example of the hardship that can be caused to others when unions involve themselves in disputes that are none of their direct concern. Left to themselves, the office workers probably could have reached agreement with the company in time, without closing the plant. Instead, other unions butted in, with the result that hundreds of workers who had no dispute of their own with the management are out of work and may remain so for a long time. If union leaders show so little regard for the welfare of their members they may hasten the time when legal means will have to be used to outlaw sympathy stoppages.

JUNIOR ZOO

Sir,—In your paper of recent date I notice that Parks Administrator W. H. Warren is suggesting a children's zoo for Victoria.

Last year, during nesting season, hundreds of adults and children witnessed heartbreaking scenes in Beacon Hill Park when a male swan brutally mutilated and killed dozens of tiny little ducklings in the ponds.

On contacting the Parks Board Office, a man replied: "The ducks came into the park on their own, and will just have to take care of themselves. We are not responsible for them."

Such a callous reply was most shocking. How can such men supervise a zoo?

In the best supervised zoo all animals and birds are spirited, dejected specimens that haunt and sadden your memory. It is infinitely painful to maintain a zoo. To abolish them would be educational to children. Only thus can they learn to be loving and kind to animals.

INFLATION

Sir,—... The $10,000,000,000 expenditures which President Truman is asking Congress to sanction (surely a sobering figure even for the United States) can hardly fail to add another twist to the spiral of inflation which has signalled the economy of the free world since planetary wars became the fashion. Either controls will have to be imposed (a policy which no American likes, which all Republicans detest, and which will make any further talk of freedom hypocritical) or an endless series of price-wage-price boosts will eventuate in universal impoverishment. Neither result would be a good advertisement for the capitalist system and for free enterprise. Of all recruiting agencies for Communism inflation is probably the most insidious, having agreeable reactions in mild, but dealing death in large doses.

If the oligarchs of the Kremlin, holding the interior lines of communication on the earth's map, could successfully protract a policy of "Kreos" on a world-wide scale, secure in the knowledge that the United Nations will never be the aggressors, but impelling them to ever more massive and intrinsically sterile expenditures, they might well achieve their aims without resort to arms.

To meet this risk it seems to me that one principle at any rate is of cardinal importance—that the element of profit should be removed from war or war-insurance expenditures, beginning of course with the armament industries. Furthermore, that hoarding be visited with heavy penalties, and that any legislation in that sense should deal retrospectively with profits as from the outbreak of Korean hostilities.

Human greed has all too often masqueraded in the guise of patriotism and has got away with it. Today, too much is at stake.

With their exquisite lesser litanies;
The tanager in his scarlet coat
In the hemlock pours from a vibrant throat
His canticle of the sun.

The loon on the lake, the hawk in the sky,
And seagull—each has a piercing cry,
Like outposts set in the lonely vast
To cry "All's well" as Time goes past
And another hour is gone.

But of all the music in God's plan
Of a mystical symphony for man,
I shall remember best of all—
Whatever hereafter may befall

Thinking Aloud

... of shoes—and ships—and sailing
wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

THE colored man enters the room and you with your paleface eyes—or I or any one of us—look at him as though he were a curiosity. He may be black, yellow or brown—but no matter. He is not white.

And deep in your subconscious mind you say to yourself, smugly on the back and thank your stars you are not as he.

Yet, but for the grace of God, there, in the form of the yellow, brown or black-skinned person, goes you.

You had nothing to do with the color of your skin. That should induce a touch of humility but—of course—it doesn't.

Nor, I suppose, will the report recently issued by Unesco (United Nations Educational, Social and Cultural Organization). Put briefly, it says that race is less a biological fact than a social myth.

Substitute the word "snobbish" for "social" and you will get the real gist of the matter. And unless the centuries have overlaid your conscience with concrete you'll recognize its truth.

In relation to his colored fellow man the white man—you, I or any of us—is a snob.

Actually he's got nothing to be snobbish about.

Unesco's report, summarizing the findings of a panel of world biologists, geneticists, psychologists, sociologists, and anthropologists, says bluntly that racial discrimination has no scientific foundation in biological fact.

Only in social fact, apparently, and that isn't scientific. It is, however—as you know—deadly real nevertheless.

But despite what the white man thinks, pharisaically, there is no proof that groups of mankind differ in intelligence, temperament, or other innate mental characteristics.

Inherently you—or I or any other white-skinned mortal—are no better than the colored man. If he gets the same chance as you—in education, environment, mental development—his potentialities are on a par with yours.

Given similar degrees of cultural opportunity, achievement among ethnic groups is about the same.

Nor does race mixture produce biologically bad results. The social results of mixed marriages are traceable solely to social factors—that is, snobbish factors.

That's true, isn't it? Within himself every white man knows he is no better—as an individual—than any other man, brown, yellow or black, unless his sense of superiority is so case-hardened as to be a disease.

Unesco doesn't say so, but really the white man is an upstart. When he was an uncouth barbarian culture was at a zenith in colored lands—in Persia, in Egypt, in China, to mention only three.

So what has he got to be uppish about? Even now, in the white man's heyday—although it is fading—there is only one field in which he is pre-eminent. Strip him of his mechanical skills and his stature shrinks mightily.

Unesco has a word about race itself. Scientifically speaking, there ain't no such animal. No large modern national or religious group is a race. Nor are people who speak a single language, or live in a single geographical area, or share in a single cultural community, necessarily a race.

We are all, I take it, and without surprise, a kind of mongrel, which may be why we snap at one another so much. We stem from the same original root.

Yet if the colored man enters the room again tomorrow you with your paleface eyes—or I or any one of us—will look at him as though he were a curiosity.

Some day we won't, though. The shoe, in fact, may be on the other foot.

Soviet Reaction to Korea

By W. N. EWER

LONDON.—The Soviet Government continues to argue that all resolutions passed by the Security Council are "unlawful" and that, therefore, the action of the United States and other governments in Korea is unlawful and "armed aggression against the Korean people."

These contentions raise two separate questions: First, are the council decisions "unlawful"? Second, if so, does that make the action taken to assist South Korea unlawful?

On the first, the Russian case is based primarily upon Article 27 of the United Nations Charter, which requires all except procedural decisions to be "made by an affirmative vote of seven members, including the concurring votes of permanent members."

But that article has been consistently interpreted by the council itself, without any dissent or protest from any member state, as allowing any permanent member to abstain from voting without thereby rendering the vote invalid. It is the only way in which a permanent member can register dissent from a decision while allowing the view of the majority to become effective. The Soviet Union itself has used this procedure and has accepted it without demur on other occasions.

Now, if the fact that a representative of a great power abstains from voting does not invalidate a resolution, it follows that the fact of his absence does not invalidate it. For absence is simply another form of abstention—abstention from attending a discussion as well as abstention from registering a vote.

Secondly, the Russians deny the validity of the resolution of June 27 on the ground that, of seven votes cast for it, one was that of the Chinese representative whose right to sit on the council they challenge. This argument is, however, destroyed by the fact that the Government of India has since endorsed the resolution which, therefore, has the support of the requisite seven members, even if the Chinese vote were disregarded. The Chinese problem is admittedly a difficult one. Five members of the council recognise the "old," five the "new" Chinese Government. Under Article 27 a decision to oust the Nationalist delegates and admit the Communist would require seven votes. Unless and until those seven votes are cast for a change, a change cannot be made, even though Russia—and for that matter the United Kingdom, may desire it.

If, perhaps, an absurd situation. But some way out might have been found if the Soviet Government had not attempted to enforce its will by "direct action." For the Soviet Government has decided to boycott the council unless and until the majority agrees to do as the Soviet Government desires. Add to that its claim that, while the boycott continues, no act of the council has any validity and you have the remarkable proposition that any permanent member can prevent the council from functioning at all unless the views of that member upon any particular issue are accepted by the majority. That is the Soviet thesis. The arguments of either side on the particular Chinese issue are irrelevant. The real question is whether a single great power has the right to prevent the council from functioning unless it gets its own way.

Article 27 seems decisive. "The Security Council shall be so organized as to be able to function continuously." It cannot be stopped from functioning by any kind of one-state strike.

Therefore, on whatever grounds the Soviet Government may seek to justify its absence from the council table, it is impossible to hold that this absence can prevent the council from discharging its duties under the charter. The Soviet claim is neither good law nor good sense.

I now pass to the second Soviet argument—that American action on the morning of June 27, in coming to the aid of South Korea, is illegal and constitutes aggression, because it was taken in advance of the decision of the Security Council; and that, therefore, the council and other members of the United Nations are condoning and supporting an aggression.

This argument is equally invalid. There is nothing in the charter, or in any other international statute, which debars any government from taking action "for the suppression of acts of aggression or other breaches of the peace"—which, under Article 1 of the charter, is one of the "purposes of the United Nations." The council had already, on June 24, declared that a breach of the peace had been committed.

Article 51 expressly refers to the "inherent right" of any member to take such action in advance of action by the Security Council in the case of "armed attack against a member of the United Nations." But the "inherent right" exists none the less if the victim of an attack is not a member of the United Nations. The Soviet Union has itself acted on the basis of that inherent right in concluding treaties of mutual assistance with Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria, Albania and Outer Mongolia, none of which are members of the United Nations. It cannot now challenge that right without impugning the validity of its own treaties and accusing itself of committing illegalities.

Observation

Car By G.B.

OPINIONS of automobile mechanics often show a wide variation. A local motorist whose light machine had been driven only 17,000 miles found that he was suddenly using a lot of expensive oil, and had sorrowful visions of a costly overhaul job shortly after his return from a well-earned holiday. He left his automobile at a garage and asked a mechanic to find out what was wrong and let him know before doing any work. On his return a few hours later he was told the machine needed new piston rings and might even require cylinder reboring at a total cost of about $80. "Thanks for your trouble. I will let you know about the job later," he said as he drove away to another garage. "Leave the car for an hour or two and I will give it a thorough examination," the second mechanic replied after he had been told about the oil consumption. When the motorist returned, the mechanic remarked: "Motor, piston rings and cylinder walls appear to be in good shape. Your oil consumption was caused by a worn oil-pump gasket. If you look on the floor of your garage you will probably find a small pool of oil. I think we can do the job in about one and one-half hours." When there is road work to be done, the City Council public works committee generally chooses the height of the tourist season with the maximum number of automobiles using streets. Last week, workmen started to coat streets with tar and gravel. The mixture may be effective in sealing surface cracks, but it causes a lot of wear to automobile tires and fills the treads with small, sharp stones. After the mixture starts to wear down by the action of tires, it produces a particularly obnoxious type of dust that filters into homes. Heard on a Fairfield bus: "How about inviting them over tomorrow night?" "But what could we do? They always beat us at canasta, and they are too stupid to just sit and talk."

Atom Bomb Defence Practical Proposition

LONDON, July 25 (Reuters).—The Government today told Britons that protection against deadly radioactivity from an atomic bomb is a practical proposition.

In the first published textbook for city defence against atomic war, the Government warned, however, that casualties among an unprepared population would be "formidable."

The book, a manual of basic training for civil defence, said that unprotected persons within a half-mile of an atomic explosion would be killed. Those within three-quarters of a mile would have a 50-50 chance of survival.

Excellent personal protection could be gained from the garden shelters used in the last war which were usually built of earth piled over a steel arch. Brick and concrete were better protection than wood. Thick masonry could remove danger of radioactivity completely.

The book said that atom-conscious Britons should carry a "dosimeter," a gadget about the size of a fountain pen to measure the amount of radiation.

In a foreword to the book, Prime Minister Attlee said it was the Government's earnest hope that the horrors of atomic attack would never be experienced.

He blamed Russia for failure of the United Nations to agree on a formula for international atomic control but added that hope for a control system would not be abandoned by Britain.

Meanwhile, the Home Office announced that the Civil Defence Corps in England and Wales totals 31,000.

The text was issued on the heels of a statement in the House of Commons that Britain must urgently build up a new Civil Defence Corps especially trained in dealing with destruction and casualties caused by atom bombs.

One atom bomb exploded in the air over a British city, the book said, would ruin 30,000 houses in a one-mile radius; badly damage 35,000 houses in a further radius of 1½ miles; and slightly damage 50,000 to 100,000 within the same 1½ miles outer radius.

The book warned that radioactivity could not be destroyed. The main symptom of radiation poisoning would be sickness and the most severe cases would develop symptoms of deep shock and extreme weakness and vomiting.

Note Protests Treatment Of Evangelists

TORONTO, July 25 (CP).—The Association for Civil Liberties protested today to Premier Duplessis of Quebec and Federal Justice Minister Garson about the treatment of five Baptist evangelists in La Sarre, Que., last Saturday.

"La Sarre dispatches said the five were showered with eggs, potatoes and rubbish and jostled and kicked as they tried to hold a religious meeting on the main street of the Northwestern Quebec town."

The association, in a letter signed by C. H. Millard, Irvine Hime, B. K. Sandwell and J. S. Midanik, asked Mr. Duplessis as Attorney-General of Quebec to:

1. Fix the responsibility for the La Sarre disturbance.
2. Determine whether there was mob violence and to take action to prevent its recurrence.
3. Establish "beyond dispute" that it is the intention of law officers to see that religious freedom in Quebec is "recognized and respected."

Mr. Garson was asked to look into the matter and take what steps he considers necessary.

Mayor Arthur J. Reaume of Windsor, Ont., in a letter today to Mayor P. X. Maréchal of La Sarre expressed "amazement" at the treatment of the evangelists.

Mayor Reaume—saying he is a Roman Catholic—urged the mayor of La Sarre to "hasten to take adequate and appropriate steps in the interests of true Canadian people who are wholeheartedly opposed to any form of religious intolerance."

Speedy Arming Urged by U.S. On Pact Group

LONDON, July 25 (AP).—The United States today urged its fellow members of the North Atlantic Pact to rearm speedily as a means of preventing another Communist attack on the Korean pattern.

The call was voiced by Charles M. Spofford, New York lawyer who is deputy to State Secretary Dean Acheson, at the opening session of the Atlantic Pact Council a civilian high command.

Spofford was elected chairman. The meeting was secret, but here is the gist of his speech as it became known:

Events in Korea have shown Communism does not hesitate to pass from subversion to armed aggression. The 12 Pact countries must be vigilant so as not to be caught napping by Communist aggression elsewhere.

The council's basic task is to safeguard peace and freedom in the Western world. The Pact members have overwhelming superiority in moral strength—and potentially in military strength—over the Communist world. Increasing the military strength of the Pact members is now necessary, though none had wanted to do it.

The Pact countries are Canada, Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands, Luxembourg, Norway, Denmark, Portugal, Iceland, Italy and the United States.

Science Said Barely Out of Dark Ages In Discovery, Creation of New Drugs

EVANSTON, Ill., July 25 (INS).—A chemist said tonight science has barely scratched the surface in the discovery and creation of new drugs and predicted great future developments in the not too distant future, including the conquest of cancer.

He is Dr. Ernest E. Campagne of Indiana University, serving on the Summer faculty at Northwestern University.

The noted biochemist told a public lecture audience at Evanston, Ill., that significant progress already has been made in the battle against cancer.

He explained: "Already one compound, guanazole, has been found which selectively attacks the cancer cell."

"It is weak in action, and as soon treatment is stopped, the cancer begins growing again, but the possibility is proven."

It only remains, he added, to find the right key for the lock. Discovery of the effectiveness of guanazole in stopping the growth of cancer cells in mice was first reported by Dr. George W. Kidder, of Amherst College, Amherst, Mass., in April, 1948, at the Detroit meeting of the American Association for Cancer Research.

It has been used since in treating human cancer experimentally at Ohio State University with not too impressive results.

Dr. Kidder's work was acclaimed at the time of its announcement as the first definite indication that science might be able to "tailor make" a drug which would kill the rampaging cancer cell by starving it to death—depriving it of vital nutrition.

Prof. Campagne noted that prospects for control of virus diseases also are excellent.

Only recently, he said, viruses have been isolated and characterized and it has been found that some antibiotics are active against the viruses.

He added: "The next five or ten years will bring the development of drugs which will be effective against such virus diseases as influenza and virus pneumonia."

Prof. Campagne observed that despite some of its recent spectacular successes, medicinal chemistry is "barely out of the dark ages."

and declared "no general theory is yet available to guide the researcher in his search for new drugs... most of our successes have been due to lucky breaks, which happened to people smart enough to capitalize on them."

Leopold Foes Use Dynamite For Sabotage

BRUSSELS, Belgium, July 25 (CP).—King Leopold's opponents said it with dynamite today.

While his ministers drew Socialist attacks in the police-ringed Parliament in Brussels, reports came in from many parts of Southern Belgium of sabotage along the roads and railways.

Small charges of dynamite twisted the rail tracks at a score of places. Signal wires were cut and an electric pylon felled. Flat tires paralyzed traffic after night were strewn on the roads.

ATTEMPT FOILED

Anti-sabotage squads tonight foiled an attempt on the Amsterdam-Paris express as barrels and iron girders were pulled off the tracks just before the express thundered by.

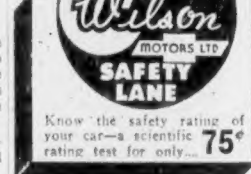

Since no wrecks were reported, it was assumed train crews were tipped off where to go slowly.

Strikes were getting under way in the industrial region of the Borinage, where opposition to Leopold has been hottest all along.

The strike was reported to be almost general in the steel mills of Southern Brabant. Ten pits were idle in the coal fields of Liege, where it was estimated 5,000 men were out.

LOS ANGELES, July 25 (CP).—His income ran well into five figures and he insisted on staying up nights totting it up on his adding machine.

Mrs. Lottia M. Briggs testified that her husband, Walter M. Briggs, 42, wealthy operator of parking lots, paid no attention to her when he stayed home, and "the noise from his adding machine kept me and the children awake most of the night."

LONDON, July 25 (AP).—Health Minister Anurbin Bevan claimed today—in a joking way—that Britain's doctors stay mentally in the pink by hating him.

Bevan runs the national health scheme, which is much maligned by medical men. They say it overworks and underpays them.

"Doctors hold annual conferences and pass the most vehement resolutions condemning me," Bevan told students of a new hospital training school.

Arrives From Ottawa to Visit Parents

Back in Victoria after an absence of three years is Mrs. R. N. Smith, the former Joan Clark, who is staying with her parents, Mr. C. Clark, deputy commissioner of Provincial Police, and Mrs. Clark, 3526 Richmond Avenue. Mrs. Smith has been living in Ottawa where her husband, Lieut. Smith, has been stationed with the R.C.N.

Chantilly Lace and Satin Worn by Vancouver Bride

Victoria and Vancouver families were linked when Beverly June Shepherd exchanged marriage vows with Mr. Rowland George Bannister at St. Giles' United Church, Vancouver, before Rev. G. Hamilton. Four attendants in pastel-hued Summer frocks preceded the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Shepherd, of Vancouver, up the aisle. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Bannister, 430 Fraser Street, Victoria.

The molded bodice and bouffant skirt of the Chantilly lace bridal gown was created over ivory satin and featured light point sleeves and tulle veiling cascading from a lace cap trimmed with orange blossoms. The bride carried red roses and stephanotis.

Mrs. Tom Williams was matron of honor; Mrs. G. Shepherd, bridesmaid; Miss Mavis Walton, bridesmaid; and tiny Susan Tierney was flower girl. Yellow organza was the choice of the senior attendant, while Mrs. Shepherd and Miss Walton were in blue eyelid and orchid-toned eyes. Pale pink was the shade of the flower girl's taffeta frock and all attendants carried carnation and sweet pea bouquets matching their headresses.

Mr. Ronald Bannister was best man for his brother and ushers were Mr. Gordon Shepherd, brother of the bride, and Mr. Bob Luney.

At the reception which followed at The Hollies, Mr. E. Tierney, uncle of the bride, proposed the toast and Dr. D. Kirkbride, of Nanaimo, was soloist.

Following their return from a Bahff honeymoon, the bride and groom have taken up residence in Victoria.

Chemainus Sisters Brides At Double Wedding Rites

CHEMAINUS, July 25. — Over 300 guests were present for the double wedding ceremony Saturday evening in Calvary Baptist Church, Chemainus, which united Doris Lorraine Brooks and Mr. John Charles Gallagher and Ruth Annabelle Brooks and Mr. John Melvin Atkinson. The brides are the daughters of Mr. Merton Brooks and the late Mrs. Brooks. Mr. John Amy officiated at the ceremony.

The brides wore identical gowns of satin with off-the-shoulder nylon yokes, fitted bodices outlined with pearl-centred satin rosettes and full, gathered skirts accented with bustle bows. Their fingertip veils were held by headresses of lace and lily-of-the-valley and they carried bouquets of red and white rosebuds.

Bridesmaids Miss Lillian Gallagher and Miss Wilma Atkinson, sisters of the grooms, wore white nylon sheer frocks and carried pink and white carnation bouquets. Little Sharon Cathey of New Westminster was flower girl in a gold net gown with dainty Dutch bonnet. Best man for Mr. Gallagher who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Gallagher of Ladysmith was Mr. Joe Rozzno of Qualicum while Mr. Adolph Fermeaux supported Mr. Atkinson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Atkinson, Arcady, Ladysmith. The ushers were Mr. Wesley Brooks and Mr. Donald Westwood. During the signing of the register Mr. John Keno sang "Because" and "Through the Years."

At the reception in Chemainus Recreation Hall, the brides' table was covered with a family heirloom cloth of hand-made lace and centred by two identical, three-tier cakes.

Activities on Salt Spring Island

GANGES, B.C., July 25. — St. Mary's Guild, Fulford Harbor, held its annual garden fete recently at the home of Capt. and Mrs. George Maude, realizing over $150 for the church funds.

The fete was opened by Ven. G. H. Holmes, and the guests were received by the president, Mrs. W. Y. Stewart. A needlework stall was presided over by Mrs. A. Davis and Mrs. Cecil Ley; home cooking by Mrs. Harold Price and Mrs. W. W. Hippisley; fruit and vegetables, Mrs. E. Charlesworth and Mrs. J. Bryant; ice cream and candy, Sylvia Jackson and Janet Hepburn; bran tub, Betty Forsen. Tea, served on the lawn and at the Point, was under the convenship of Miss Gladys Shaw and assisting were: Mrs. L. D. Drummond, Mrs. Geer Evans, Mrs. E. Forsen, Mrs. G. H. Holmes, Mrs. A. J. Hepburn, Mrs. O. Lacy, Mrs. L. J. Mollet, Mrs. J. Sylvester, Mrs. P. Sherman, Misses Maureen and Jacqueline Twa and members of the Christophers Club. Contesters were in charge of Mrs. J. White, Mr. W. W. Hippisley and Mr. Frank White. The prizes were won by Mr. Michael Ley, Ganges, and Mr. Cragie, Victoria.

The garden party was most successful, about 200 persons were present, including a large number from the "Cy Peck" ferry, who attended at the tea hour.

Mrs. J. B. Fletcher was hostess at a luncheon recently when she entertained the Salt Spring Island branch of the Women's Auxiliary in the garden of her home at Walker's Hook.

At the regular W.A. meeting which followed, the president, Mrs.

G. H. Holmes, was in the chair and Archdeacon Holmes took the devotional period.

Details for the annual church fete, to be held at Harbor House on August 2 were discussed and the following were elected as stall holders: Fancy and plain needlework, Mrs. Walter Norton, assisted by Mrs. Jesse Bond and Miss A. E. Payne; miscellaneous, Mrs. E. Adams and Mrs. F. Sharpe; home produce, Mrs. Harold Price, assisted by Mrs. J. Byron and Mrs. V. L. Jackson. Members of St. Mary's Guild, Fulford, will assist at all the stalls, and St. George's Altar Guild will serve tea under the convenship of Mrs. V. C. Best.

The Archdeacon announced that Rev. Bosa, superintendent of the West Coast Mission, will take the services and preach at all Salt Spring Island services on Sunday, July 30.

Mrs. Holmes referred to the founding of the W.A. in the Dominion 65 years ago, and read an interesting report of the 50th anniversary of the organization which she attended in Toronto in 1935.

Following the meeting, Mrs. Fletcher, assisted by Mrs. Stuart Bannister, served tea.

The Kermess executive of the I.A. to the Salt Spring branch of the Canadian Legion met recently at the home of Mrs. A. Francis, Ganges, with Mrs. J. B. Arland in the chair. Further business was discussed in connection with the Kermess, to be held at the golf club on August 23. One of the main attractions of the day will be the home town band, which will play continuously during the afternoon and for the square dance on the tennis court at night.

The fashion show will be held at 3:30 p.m. and a flood-lit repeat performance will be given at 8 p.m. All arrangements for stalls and other attractions are well in hand under the convenship of Mrs. A. E. Duke and the cafeteria staff will be in charge of Mrs. H. McGill, of the Ganges Inn.

At a small ceremony in the presence of the executive board of the Red Cross, Dr. Olga Jardine presented badges and citations for long and efficient service to Mrs. J. S. D. Wilkie and Mrs. Ada I. Heald yesterday afternoon at Red Cross House. Mrs. E. G. Hopwood, who was unable to be present, will receive her badge and citation at a later date.

VACATION GUIDE

Fulford Harbor Tranquil Spot

Fulford Harbor, located at the southern tip of scenic Salt Spring Island, presents a picture of peace and quietness during summer. Rugged little ferry Cy Peck, also seen in above photograph, is frequent caller at port, making regular sailings each day from Swartz Bay, Vancouver Island. Many island citizens and tourists have enjoyed one-day excursions to and from popular Salt Spring Island over many past years.

Increase Reported In Tourist Travel

TOURIST travel into British Columbia for the first six months of this year is 3 per cent above the 1949 level, Hon. Leslie H. Eyles, Minister of Trade and Industry, said yesterday.

During this period 74,650 vehicles entered British Columbia under travel permits as against 72,469 last year.

Said Mr. Eyles: "With vacation travel now in full swing, we have every reason to be elated over prospects for the balance of the year."

Victoria Visit On Itinerary Of Scientist

An Australian astronomer will visit the Saanich Observatory late this summer to discuss astronomical matters with Dr. J. A. Pearce, of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory.

Here in the course of a continent-wide tour will be Dr. Richard van der Riet Wooley, Australian Commonwealth astronomer and director of the Solar Observatory at Mt. Stromlo, Canberra.

He will visit observatories in the United States and Canada and discuss plans by Yale University to send astronomers to his country to study the southern heavens.

Dr. Wooley will visit Cleveland, Ohio, August 21 and will go to the David Dunlop Observatory, Toronto; the Dominion Observatory at Ottawa, and the Astrophysical Observatory here before returning home.

Mt. Stromlo has just purchased a reflector telescope of the kind recently installed at the Saanich Observatory and Dr. Pearce has suggested to the Australian that his country send a young astronomer here for a year to study the workings of the new telescope.

Restful Atmosphere, Sport, Scenery Make Salt Spring Island Attractive

Salt Spring Island, the largest of the group of Gulf Islands, has only of recent years gained its present prominence as a tourist and summer resort. The opening of the Swartz Bay ferry service has brought Salt Spring within an hour and a half easy travel from Victoria and has greatly increased the popularity of the district from a tourist's point of view.

Leaving Victoria, it is possible to take a car, explore the excellent roads that traverse the island, and return in the same day. If a longer stay is planned, then the visitor can count on full modern accommodation at excellent auto camps, beach resorts and hotels.

Salt Spring Island has been settled many years, but it has not yet lost the air of quiet seclusion which prevailed in the days when connection with the outer world was made only by steamer to Vancouver. A holiday is different here, with the natural beauty of the surroundings augmented by such amusements as golf, tennis, fishing (both in the sea and in the lakes), boating, hiking and bathing.

Salt Spring is divided into three centres, Fulford Harbor, where the Swartz Bay ferry docks; Ganges Harbor, where the boats from Vancouver call on regular schedule, and North Salt Spring. Ganges is recognized as the principal settlement, and there are well-equipped stores and garages in the vicinity.

ROADS GOOD

There are more than 100 miles of roads on Salt Spring, all in good condition. Some lead down to lovely beaches, others to the little lakes that are to be found. The principal of these is St. Mary's Lake, to the north on the island, where the black bass fishing is well known. For those who like mountain climbing there are hikes up Maxwell Mountain. Once the peak is attained, there is a glorious view looking across the Sansum Narrows to Vancouver Island.

Picnics Sunday

LADYSMITH, July 25.—St. John's Anglican Church picnic will be held at Parksville Bay next Sunday. Fraternal Order of Eagles will attend their annual picnic at Ivy's Green, Ladysmith, on Sunday. United Mine Workers from Ladysmith and Nanaimo will hold a picnic at Rathrev Beach Sunday.

Secrecy Surrounds Pinza-Lanza Story

HEARD IN HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA G. PARSONS
HOLLYWOOD, July 25 (INS).—I asked Dore Schary about "Strictly Dishonorable," which I printed sometime ago was bought from Preston Sturges by M.G.M. for Elio Pinza.

He says it will be Pinza's next, but there is also a story in which Elio and Mario Lanza are co-starred. They will play father and son. So secret is the preparation that not even a title is given the script. It's called the Pinza-Lanza story.

NO MISTAKE
I can tell Eddie Small he's made no mistake signing George Montgomery to star in a saga of the Texas Rangers, an outdoor opus he's making. I know how popular George is since I saw the fans at the church festival in Pomona shouting for his autograph.

Taking this job means that George and his attractive wife, Dore Schary, will have to postpone their trip to New York for a month or more. But Dore is just as interested in George's career as her own, and she doesn't mind.

TO PRESENT PLAYS
The West Coast will have a chance to see Dorothy McGuire on the stage in "Summer and Smoke" later this year. Gregory Peck, who is the moving spirit of the La Jolla Playhouse, called a meeting on Saturday of the Hollywood actors who are interested with him in bringing the theatre to California.

Rosalind Russell, Greg, and Dorothy McGuire were at the La Jolla meeting. They have decided to take

"Summer and Smoke" out on the road first, and if that goes over, to follow with all of the plays that were produced during the Summer in La Jolla.

RANDOM SNAPSHOTS
Sonja Henie and Winthrop Gardner were on hand at Del Mar for the opening. They are staying at their ranch near Oceanside.

What a wonderful first day at this unique little track where the turf meets the surf. Pat O'Brien, who has his Summer home there, was among the first arrivals. With Bing Crosby he opened Del Mar 11 years ago.

Dorothy McGuire, who remained in La Jolla after "Summer and Smoke" closed, was trying to pick a few winners.

Danny Thomas and George Jessel

Amusements

Oak Bay—"Valley of the Giants," plus "Flaxly Martin," at 1:15, 3:15, 5:15, 7:15, 9:15.

Odeon—"The Good Humor Man," at 1:15, 3:15, 5:15, 7:15, 9:15. Last complete show, 9:00.

Plaza—"Rocketship X-M (Expedition Moon)," plus "Hollywood Varieties," at 1:35, 3:35, 5:35, 7:35, 9:35.

Royal—"The Sheriff's Daughter," at 1:35, 3:35, 5:35, 7:35, 9:35.

sen went down for the stag dinner the night before, and remained to give a few laughs.

Frances Langford, favorite star of the hospitalized veterans, has been signed for a personal appearance at New York's Roxy Theatre, starting August 1.

Scene From Film Starting Today

Bit of the technique of the kiss is explained by Dan Dailey to Anne Baxter in a scene from 20th Century-Fox's Technicolor laugh riot, "The Sheriff's Daughter," which starts today at Royal Theatre.

Uncle Wiggily Story - - -

By Howard Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY ISLAND

Uncle Wiggily and his friends stood looking at the door of the doghouse, waiting for Squankum, the stylish mud turtle, to open it. The rabbit gentleman had rung the bell and Squankum had said:

"Just a moment, I'll be right down."

Thumping sounds could now be heard from inside the doghouse.

"What noise is that?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"That's Squankum coming downstairs," answered Stickum, the stylish mud turtle.

"Are there stairs in this doghouse?" asked Uncle Butter the goat.

"Oh, yes," answered Stickum, leaning on his cane so he wouldn't fall. For Stickum was standing on his hind legs, which isn't easy for a mud turtle who has a heavy shell.

"Oh, I'm so disappointed,"

"Yes, as soon as Squankum began living in Old Mr. Tray's doghouse, our mud turtle friend began getting proud and stylish."

"Sort of putting on the dog," chuckled Uncle Butter. But no one answered him, so his joke didn't make much of a hit.

"Squankum said he must have an upstairs and downstairs to be in style," went on Stickum. "So now he's coming downstairs."

"He sounds sort of bumpy," barked Mr. Bow Wow.

"Yes," agreed Stickum. "We mud turtles aren't built to go up and downstairs. But Squankum must have style. So he crawls to the edge of one step, pulls at his head, tail and legs inside his upper end lower shells, and then lets himself go, tumbling from one step to the other. So he comes downstairs."

"I should think it would hurt him," bleated Aunt Lettie the goat.

"No, it doesn't," answered Stickum. "We turtles have hard shells."

The stair-thumping sounds came to an end. There was the noise of claw feet crossing the floor and then the door was opened. Uncle Wiggily and his friends saw a very big mud turtle—the largest they had ever seen. He was standing on his hind legs. But he didn't use a stick to balance himself. Squankum was too proud and stylish for that.

"Oh! I thought you were the brush and broom peddler," said Squankum, looking at Uncle Wiggily sort of proud like.

"No, I'm Mr. Longears the rabbit," was the answer.

"Oh, I'm so disappointed," said Squankum. "I need some new brushes and brooms to keep my doghouse clean. Even though I put up the sign 'Wipe Your Feet' on my door, many of my mud turtle friends forget. They track in mud and I have to sweep it out. But I'm glad to meet you, Uncle Wiggily and your friends. I believe you know Old Dog Tray."

"Yes, I do," answered Uncle Wiggily. "You have a nice place here, Squankum, in Mr. Tray's doghouse."

"Oh, it isn't as stylish as I'd like," said Squankum. "But it will do for a time. Won't you come in? Even if you aren't the brush and broom man I was expecting, I'd like you to come in."

"Thank you, no," answered Uncle Wiggily. "We must go back to our picnic lunch. Will you come and lunch with us?"

"No," answered Squankum. "Thank you. I must wait here for the brush and broom man. Stickum, you may come in but wipe your feet."

"All right," answered the other mud turtle. So he wiped his feet and went in the doghouse. Uncle Wiggily and his friends went back to where they had left the lunch baskets. After the picnic they all went on board the houseboat again and away they chugged over Frog Pond. Suddenly Mr. Bow Wow pointed to another island.

"I'm sure that can be named 'Uncle Wiggily's Island,' barked the dog gentleman.

I wonder if it could? I'll tell you tomorrow if the washcloth doesn't fall into the bath tub and get so wet it can't go to the movies with the cake of soap.

Culbertson on Bridge

(Copyright, 1950, by Ely Culbertson)

As a rule, when playing a suit contract, the best method is to count losers and try to salvage one or more of them. At no-trump, however, the better plan is usually to count winners, and then, if necessary, to look for a play which may augment them.

In the following case, it seems apparent that the declarer did not use this count of winners!

Boats Bring Tons of Tuna To Victoria

Marine News

By RAY WORMALD

The "tuna rush" is under way for British Columbia fishermen.

First to deliver the "chicken of the sea" this season at this port was local fisherman Fred Homer, whose 46-foot Zorina reached the B.C. Packers Ltd. Ogden Point plant at 2:30 p.m. yesterday with "just a whisker under five tons" aboard.

Nearly, minutes later, the Fisher Bay II reached the Inner Harbor plant of Kyquot Trollers' Co-operative Association with a smaller load of albacore tuna.

QUICKLY FROZEN

At B.C. Packers the fish were unloaded from the Zorina, weighed, and immediately rushed into a quick-freeze compartment of the plant. In less than an hour the fish were practically frozen solid.

Mr. Homer said the fish were caught off the Washington coast. Latest reports indicate the tuna are showing in large numbers just south of Barkley Sound. He wasted no time heading for the grounds again.

Tuna fishing is good business. Current price is $400 per ton.

There were about 20 B.C. boats on the tuna grounds during the time Mr. Homer was there, "and a large number of American vessels." A large number of B.C. boats will be heading for the tuna from now on.

FISH HEAVIER

Average weight of the fish brought here yesterday was 17 pounds — several pounds heavier than early loads of last year, reports James Dunn, manager of the local B.C. Packers plant.

"They're biting at almost anything," remarked Mr. Homer. He is using standard feathered lures, designed to resemble squid.

The tuna will remain in cold storage here for an indefinite time, Mr. Dunn said, and will be available when needed by canners on the mainland.

It is expected there will be many tuna loads brought to this port as the season progresses.

THANKS FOR APPLES

Several months ago the Donaldson Line vessel Ss. Carmila took a large shipment of British Columbia apples to the United Kingdom.

Yesterday, R. N. B. Cumberbatch, shipping agent for Rithet Consolidated Ltd., local agents for the line, received a letter sent by a woman in Motherwell, Scotland, to Captain K. McLeod, commanding officer of the Carmila. She described the vessel as a "fairly ship which brought the apples over from British Columbia."

According to her letter, a large number of the gift apples were ultimately distributed among various schools of England, and she enclosed a photograph showing a group of school children of St. James' School, of Paisley, enjoying the fruit.

"The children of this school wish to thank you and your crew for bringing them such a wonderful gift from their friends in British Columbia," the writer said.

WILL VISIT VICTORIA

The United States destroyer escort USS. Grady is scheduled to visit this city next Saturday. She will be moored at Cadboro Bay from that afternoon until the following afternoon.

It is assumed the warship will be among those serving as patrol vessels in connection with the big power boat race which is to start at Esquimalt and finish at Cadboro Bay this Saturday.

CRUISER RETURNS

H.M.C.S. Ontario, cruiser, returned to her Esquimalt berth yesterday to complete a one-week training cruise in British Columbia waters. Several more such cruises have been planned for the flagship during the remainder of the summer.

FREIGHTER PURCHASED

The Western Canada Steamships Ltd., reported in Vancouver yesterday it had bought another freighter for its fleet.

It has purchased the 10,000-ton steamship Fort Colville, a sister ship for other wartime vessels of the Victory class.

The ship, now in Montreal, was

Speed was the keynote at Ogden Point plant of B.C. Packers Ltd. early yesterday afternoon when season's first load of tuna was brought in by Fred Homer in his Zorina. Catch was just under five tons. APPOINTED TO NOOTKA

Commander (P) Alexander B. Fraser-Harris, D.S.C. and R.C.N. 34, of Halifax, has been appointed commanding officer of the Tribal class destroyer H.M.C.S. Nootka, it was announced yesterday at Naval Headquarters.

The Halifax-based Nootka, one of four ships of her class built in Canada, is scheduled to return to active commission August 15 after having been refitted and converted to an anti-submarine destroyer. She will be the sixth vessel to be completed under the Royal Canadian Navy's destroyer-modernization program.

Commander Fraser-Harris has been taking staff courses for the past year. Prior to that he was commanding officer of H.M.C.S. Shearwater, the R.C.N. Air Station at Dartmouth, N.S.

BODIES FOUND

Coast Guardsmen at Gearhart, Ore., found the bodies of a man, a woman and a boy on a beach yesterday, apparently the victims of a sea tragedy.

Mrs. Holt Berni spotted from the window of her beach cottage near Strawberry Hill a small fishing boat being pounded by the breakers. She notified the Coast Guard, and the bodies were discovered.

It is thought that the three be-

"If Miss Blacklock dies before Mrs. Goedler, two people inherit. The two we know of as Pip and Emma, Julia Summora, has turned out to be Emma."

"And you think I'm Pip?" Edmund laughed. "Fantastic... absolutely fantastic! I'm about the right age—nothing else. And I can prove to you, you damned fool, that I am Edmund Swettenham. Birth certificate, schools, university... everything."

"He isn't Pip." The voice came from the shadows in the corner. Philippa Haymes came forward, her face pale. "I'm Pip, Inspector."

"You, Mrs. Haymes?"

"Yes. Everybody seems to have assumed that Pip was a boy—Julia knew, of course, that her twin was another girl—I don't know why, she didn't say so this afternoon..."

"Family solidarity," said Julia. I suddenly realized who you were, I had no idea till that moment." "I'd had the same idea as Julia did," said Philippa, her voice trembling a little. "After I lost my husband and the war was over, I wondered what I was going to do. My mother died many years ago. I found out about my Goedler relations. Mrs. Goedler was dying and at her death the money would go to a Miss Blacklock. I found out where Miss Blacklock lived and I came here. I took a job with Mrs. Lucas. I hoped that, since this Miss Blacklock was an elderly woman, without relatives, she might perhaps be willing to help. Not me, because I could work, but help with Harry's education. After all, it was Goedler money and she'd no one particular of her own to spend it on."

"And then," Philippa spoke faster and it was as though now her inner reserve had broken down, she couldn't get the words out fast enough. "That held-up happened and I began to be frightened. Because it seemed to me that the only possible person with a motive for killing Miss Blacklock was me. I hadn't the least idea who Julia—we weren't identical twins and we're not much alike to look at. No, it seemed as though I was the only one bound to be suspected."

She stopped and pushed her fair hair back from her face, and Craddock suddenly realized that the faded snapshot in the box of letters must have been a photograph of Philippa's mother. The likeness was undeniable. He knew too why that mention of clothing and unclothing hands had seemed familiar... Philippa was doing it now.

"Miss Blacklock has been good to me. Very, very good to me—I didn't try to kill her. I never thought of killing her. But all the same, I'm Pip." She added, "You see you needn't suspect Edmund any more."

"Needn't I?" said Craddock. Again there was the acid biting tone in his voice. "Edmund Swettenham's a young man who's fond of money. A young man, perhaps, who would like to marry a rich wife. But she wouldn't be a rich wife unless Miss Blacklock died before Mrs. Goedler. And since it seemed almost certain that Mrs. Goedler would die before Miss Blacklock, well—he had to do something about it—didn't you, Mr. Swettenham?"

"It's a damned lie!" Edmund shouted. And then, suddenly, a sound rose on the air. It came from the kitchen—a long unearthly shriek of terror.

"That isn't Mital!" said Julia.

"No," said Inspector Craddock.

"It's someone who's murdered three people..."

When the Inspector turned on Edmund Swettenham, Mital had crept quietly out of the room and back to the kitchen. She was running water into the sink when Miss Blacklock entered.

Mital gave her a shamefaced sideways look.

"What a liar you are, Mital," said Miss Blacklock pleasantly. "Here—the silver first, and fill the sink right up. You can't wash up in about two inches of water."

Mital turned the taps on obediently.

B.C. Fire Hazard Soars; Officials Ponder Closures

British Columbia Forest Service officials conferred again yesterday on the possibility of forest closures as dry weather sent the hazard soaring.

Another 23 fires have broken out, forestry officials said, and 487 men have been thrown into the battle to keep them under control.

Kamloops is the worst district. It has 31 fires with 218 men employed in fighting them. All are under control except the conflagration at Lillooet. There fire fighters built a four-mile fire guard yesterday in an attempt to keep the blaze from spreading.

In the Vancouver district, 40 men were thrown into a new outbreak on Tahsis Inlet, on the West Coast of Vancouver Island. No news came through as to the size of the fire.

Forestry officials said 90 men are still battling to control the big outbreak on Brohm Creek, 18 miles north of Squamish.

In the Nelson district, a wave of lightning storms over the week-end started a whole series of new fires. Most are small and are being brought rapidly under control.

The proposed incorporation of Ward Six into a rural district municipality was discussed yesterday by Minister of Municipal Affairs R. C. MacDonald and Sidney Pickles, president of Ward Six Sanction Ratepayers' Association.

This was announced last night at a meeting of the association in the Orange Hall, Sanction. Ratepayers voted heavily in favor of secession from Sanction at a recent plebiscite.

Ratepayers unanimously decided that a committee of three, composed of the president, Nat Gray, J.P., and Edward Logan be set up to arrange for legal service to prepare the necessary documents.

Ted Hawkins, Sanction, was appointed a committee of one to collaborate with James Wood in the preparation of a report on the individual organization of volunteer fire units throughout the area.

This report will be presented, with other important information, at a public meeting to be held in about three weeks.

Behind this plan, he explained, is the pressing need which has developed in Victoria for off-street parking areas. The city has few large parcels of vacant land left in its possession, and, with the exception of one or two 60x120-foot parcels at some distance from the city centre, none in the downtown area which could be used as parking lots.

An alternative plan would see the Market Building improved as a public parking garage. Alderman Diggon termed inaccurate reports circulated last week quoting him as favoring demolition of the Market Building. He said the ground floor could be converted for use as a parking area and perhaps the top floor also, if it were found possible to strengthen the building structurally.

AGAINST TRADITION

"The condition of the public market is not in keeping with the tradition of beauty we have established with our hanging flower baskets," he observed.

It would require a large sum of money to carry out improvements to the Market Building to raise standards of appearance and sanitation, according to Acting Mayor

Says Cost of Calls Reduces Complaints

A WOMAN yesterday got the last word in the Spanish water controversy.

A resident of Cedar Hill Crescent, she telephoned The Colonist to say she didn't agree with Reeve Joseph W. Casey's statement that re-imposing of strict sprinkling regulations has eased the problem.

"The reeve said he had received only one phone call from a resident complaining about lack of water," the woman said. "Naturally he has had only one phone call. Everybody up here has to pay a nickel to phone to town."

The woman complained that houses in her district still are desperately short of water.

In the Nelson district, a wave of lightning storms over the week-end started a whole series of new fires. Most are small and are being brought rapidly under control.

Claims Dikes Not Rebuilt As Promised

A delegation from the Lower Fraser Valley called on the Provincial Cabinet yesterday to protest that valley dikes have not been reconstructed according to government promises.

Spokesmen for the delegation, headed by Alex Hope, M.L.A. for Delta, said the government had promised to rebuild the dikes three feet above the 1894 flood level and to place an all-weather surface on the top suitable to take truck traffic.

The delegation contended that the chief reason for trouble with the dikes this year was that they had not been reconstructed according to the promised standards.

Delegation from one diking district claimed his district spent $40,000 fighting the flood, and asked the government to reconsider its decision that local diking authorities must bear the cost of flood-fighting this year.

Reeve Lloyd Beharrell, Matsqui, was chairman of the group, which included Reeve Alex Hogen, Sumas; P. A. Jespersen, Chilliwack; J. Peers, Sumas; R. Heppenstall, Dewdney; P. Probert, Glen Valley.

This was announced last night at a meeting of the association in the Orange Hall, Sanction. Ratepayers voted heavily in favor of secession from Sanction at a recent plebiscite.

City Sericulturists Consternated By Individualist Among Silkworms

Among the hundreds of silkworms at Veterans' Hospital, there's one rugged individualist who has thrown city sericulturists into a spin.

This silkworm, like many another individualist, came from Texas. It arrived in Victoria as an egg, and hatched out, along with its hundreds of brothers and sisters, about a month ago.

A few days ago the worms ended their month-long mulberry-leaf feast. Most of them crawled into secluded corners and began to spin their protective cocoons. But the gentleman from Texas had other plans.

ON REFRIGERATOR

While the hospital's occupational therapist wasn't looking he sneaked out of his box, skittered up the side of a nearby refrigerator and began a sort of dance on the stainless-steel top, paying out his line of silk and weaving it into a gossamer carpet. Then he fell into the long sleep of the chrysalis.

He was discovered yesterday, curled up beside a translucent five-inch square of spun silk, which looks something like soft cigarette paper.

This unsilkwormlike behavior has thrown silkworm-watchers into utter consternation, including veteran sericulturist Cecil French. Mr. French has been raising silkworms for 35 years, and he has never before seen anything like it.

SEES POSSIBILITIES

However, Mr. French thinks there may be commercial possibilities in the phenomenon. If all silkworms could be persuaded to spin flat sheets instead of meaty cocoons, he thinks the manufacture of finished silk might be made much more simple.

When his own silkworms start hatching, he's going to experiment with placing them on flat metal plates without any corners for them to crawl into.

"It has helped us over the attic when we didn't want the C.O.P. to take charge of things. Coalition has done its job," he said.

"Esquimalt will be Conservative," he predicted.

Esquimalt Group Votes Confidence in Anscomb

A vote of confidence in Hon. Herbert Anscomb as Provincial leader was passed unanimously Monday by the Esquimalt District Progressive Conservative Association.

The vote was sought by P. W. de Taylor, Esquimalt, newly-elected first vice-president of the association.

The vote came as talk continues of a movement in the party for a change in leadership when a convention is held at Vancouver in October.

Meeting in the Colwood Community Hall, members also heard E. V. Finland allege an attempt was made to bribe him to withdraw from last year's election in which the Coalition candidate, Cmdr. Charles T. Beard, was successful.

Mr. Finland gave his side of the 1948 election fracas in which he attempted unsuccessfully to regain a seat he held in the Legislature prior to Coalition.

"I was told," said Mr. Finland, "that Mr. Beard was going to be elected and the best thing for me to do was to step down."

FIVE FIGURES

"An amount in five figures was offered me to withdraw—and those figures didn't go up and down but across."

R. H. Pooley, former attorney-general of the province in the Toimie regime, called for a closing of the ranks in the association.

In his intermission talk to the membership, he took credit for being "The Father of Coalition" in British Columbia.

He thought the Coalition Government "hasn't done too badly" either.

"It has helped us over the attic when we didn't want the C.O.P. to take charge of things. Coalition has done its job," he said.

"Esquimalt will be Conservative," he predicted.

Premier Opens Galiano Park, Power Plant

Nanaimo Water Pressure Low Due to Dry Summer

NANAIMO, July 25.—In some of the higher places there are times when only trickles come from Nanaimo water taps. So serious has the water shortage become that Mayor Earle C. Westwood called for immediate action at a City Council meeting.

He made a suggestion that the city bulldozer go in and deepen No. 2 reservoir, but Ald. George Addison, waterworks chairman; J. H. Shepherd, public works superintendent, and Arthur Leonard, city engineer, said it was not feasible. The mayor then asked if nothing could be done, and Mr. Shepherd thought the spillway of No. 2 reservoir might be repaired to hold back the 16,000,000-gallon capacity for emergencies. He agreed the situation was serious, as there would be no water to fight any large fire.

Enter Protest About Car Lot

ALBERNI, July 25.—Several protests have been made to Alberni aldermen by residents near the Amateur Athletic Hall at the action of N. H. Swartz in making a parking lot in an area that was zoned for residential purposes.

Some time ago, Mr. Swartz applied to the council for permission to operate a parking lot on the property, which was refused. The matter will be turned over to an appeal board composed of A. D. McGillivray, Howard Harding and Magistrate T. M. Patterson.

Advise Meters For Taxi Cabs

ALBERNI, July 25.—Alberni City Council gave tentative approval to an application from Alberni District United Cabs Association for permission to install taxi meters in the company's cabs.

Councils of both Port Alberni and Alberni will meet Thursday night to discuss rates before passing the necessary by-law.

Require Water For Dry Area

ALBERNI, July 25.—George Towns, a resident of the Island Highway outside the city limits, appeared before the Alberni council to request that he and several other householders be permitted to cut in on the city water main. His request was referred to the water committee.

Mr. Towns was a victim of the Fraser Valley flood in 1948, but in 1950 is now suffering from a lack of water.

Oil Cuts Off Road to City

DUNCAN, July 25.—Residents of a new subdivision at the northern edge of Duncan were marooned Tuesday. The municipality sprayed bunker oil on two roads that the subdivision residents must use to get into town, and the oil refused to sink into the ground in the usual manner, lying in a black moat on two sides of the area.

Headquarters of the Provincial Police was on the wrong side of the oil, and police were looking black. The municipal office assured indignant householders that a sand truck would come to their rescue immediately and re-establish a bridgehead with the rest of Duncan.

Take Bus Cash

CAMPBELL RIVER, July 25.—Vancouver Island Coach Lines, Ltd., office was broken into at Campbell River early Tuesday morning. The sum of $10 in silver was stolen. Provincial Police are investigating.

Sooke to Stage Big Annual Celebration at River Flats Today

SOOKE, July 25.—Annual All-Sooke Day will commence with races for children and adults on Sooke River Flats at 12:30 p.m. Wednesday, followed by a Vancouver Island championship horseshoe pitching contest at 2:15 p.m. The Lindley Challenge Cup will be at stake.

Logging sports, a women's nail-drying contest, and a tug-of-war for The Daily Colonist Challenge Cup will get under way at 2:30 p.m. Events will include tree chopping, square timber chopping, log rolling, log bucking, power saw contest, high riggers' climbing and log blurring. R. G. Gibson will be official starter and handicapper.

Refreshments of Sooke-style barbecued beef, salmon, and clam chowder will be in charge of Frank Rumbay, James Forrest and Andrew Robillard. There will be a midway with games in charge of Richard Cairns, and a tombola directed by Mrs. J. Arden. A dance will be held in Sooke Community Hall at 9:30 p.m.

TIGHTEN WATER RULES
NANAIMO, July 25.—Further tightening of sprinkling regulations was ordered by Nanaimo city authorities effective last Saturday. Level of the reservoir has been dropping steadily with the weather continuing hot.

No Sunday sprinkling is allowed and week days are restricted to one hour morning and night with only three days per week allowed each resident, according to location. Even more severe regulation may have to be enforced if the water level continues to go down.

COMMUNITY DANCE
PARKSVILLE, July 25.—More than 200 persons attended a Summer dance sponsored by the Parksville Community Society at the community hall.

A ten-piece orchestra from Nanaimo supplied the music and committee chairman was George Butler. Catering was done by the Parksville Cafe. The next big dance planned by the Community Society will be the Ally Oop contest and comic strip masquerade on August 18, but tentative plans have been made to hold short Saturday night dances at the hall for Summer visitors and local residents.

HEAVY PRODUCE
PARKSVILLE, July 25.—According to a report from C.T.A. Supervisor W. T. Calbeck of Nanaimo, a cow owned by Harry Dawson & Son at Nanos Bay, set a good mark for butterfat production during the month of June.

Dawsondale Faye, an Ayrshire, produced a total of 1041 pounds of butterfat during the month, which Mr. Calbeck considers a record hard to beat.

SALE SUCCESSFUL
QUALICUM BEACH, July 25.—Close to $1,200 was realized at a successful sale of gifts sponsored by the Qualicum Beach Rotary Club last Saturday afternoon. The shady lawn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Burnyeat, overlooking the sea, formed a perfect site for the event.

The array of goods, all donated by local residents, ranged from valuable antiques to brand new toasters, fishing rods, a boat, loads of wood, shingles, a live calf, and food hampers. E. D. Thwaites was auctioneer.

While the sale was in progress the wives of Rotary members served tea at tables on the lawn, with Mrs. Frank Parker as tea convener. Proceeds from tea tickets amounted to $80.

Presiding over the event was Rotary President James Graham.

DROWNING VICTIM
NANAIMO, July 25.—K. A. Peterson, of Fort Rupert, a Department of Transport employee, was drowned early Sunday-morning after he reportedly fell off the boat Edna H. in the vicinity of Cattle Island. The boat is owned by Tommy Hunt of Fort Rupert. Dragging is being continued.

OPENING CEREMONIES
BRENTWOOD, July 25.—Invitations are being sent out to the ratepayers of the Brentwood area and to a special list of guests for the official opening of the Brentwood waterworks system, to be held in the Women's Institute Hall, Brentwood, on Friday at 8 p.m. Light refreshments will be served by members of the Women's Institute.

JAILED FOR THEFT
NANAIMO, July 25.—John B. Haiscock, Lantzville, appeared before Magistrate Beever-Potts and was found guilty of theft of money and causing actual bodily harm. He was sentenced to three months at hard labor on each charge, sentences to run concurrently. Police said the money had been recovered.
